The Bay-Colonial Wausau WI

February was time for romance at the Bay-Colonial, with a Valentine party featuring Wayne Jellish playing the resident's favorite "love songs" from the past, red punch, and specially decorated Valentine cookies.

We also let our minds wander with our Once Upon a Time group, revisiting Grimm's brother's fairytales, their history and reminiscing about favorite childhood memories.

The month kicked off with a Superbowl pizza party with pizza's from Pizza Hut, a treat for sure!

We've recently added art with Isabelle, a very talented part-time activity assistant who is majoring in art and astronomy at UW Wisconsin. We have this activity 2 x per month.

Every month the residents look forward to the third Friday that offers Happy Hour with live music and root beer floats, a favorite even in cold Wisconsin winters.

In our traveling to series, we will be taking a Caribbean Cruise.

In addition to multiple small groups throughout the month, we ended our February with a preview of March: having Jon Shea, playing traditional Celtic music with bagpipes, flute and guitar. The residents loved the change up in music style and look forward to his return.
